Supporting the Communities Where We Live & Work

U. S. Steel is proud to partner with communities across the country — including right here in Indiana. We believe our business thrives when we are actively engaged and involved in the communities where we make steel.

Across our state, we are committed to positively impacting the communities that we call home, to enhancing and improving quality of life in those communities, and to supporting projects and opportunities that advance safety, education and environmental stewardship.

SAFETY FIRST

The truck garage team at U. S. Steel's Gary Works celebrated 33 years without an injury in March 2025, exemplifying their commitment to safety.

Why it matters: This achievement underscores the team's dedication to "Safety First" and highlights their role in making U. S. Steel a leader in safety within the steel industry.

- Their proactive approach ensures a secure work environment, fostering a culture where safety is paramount.

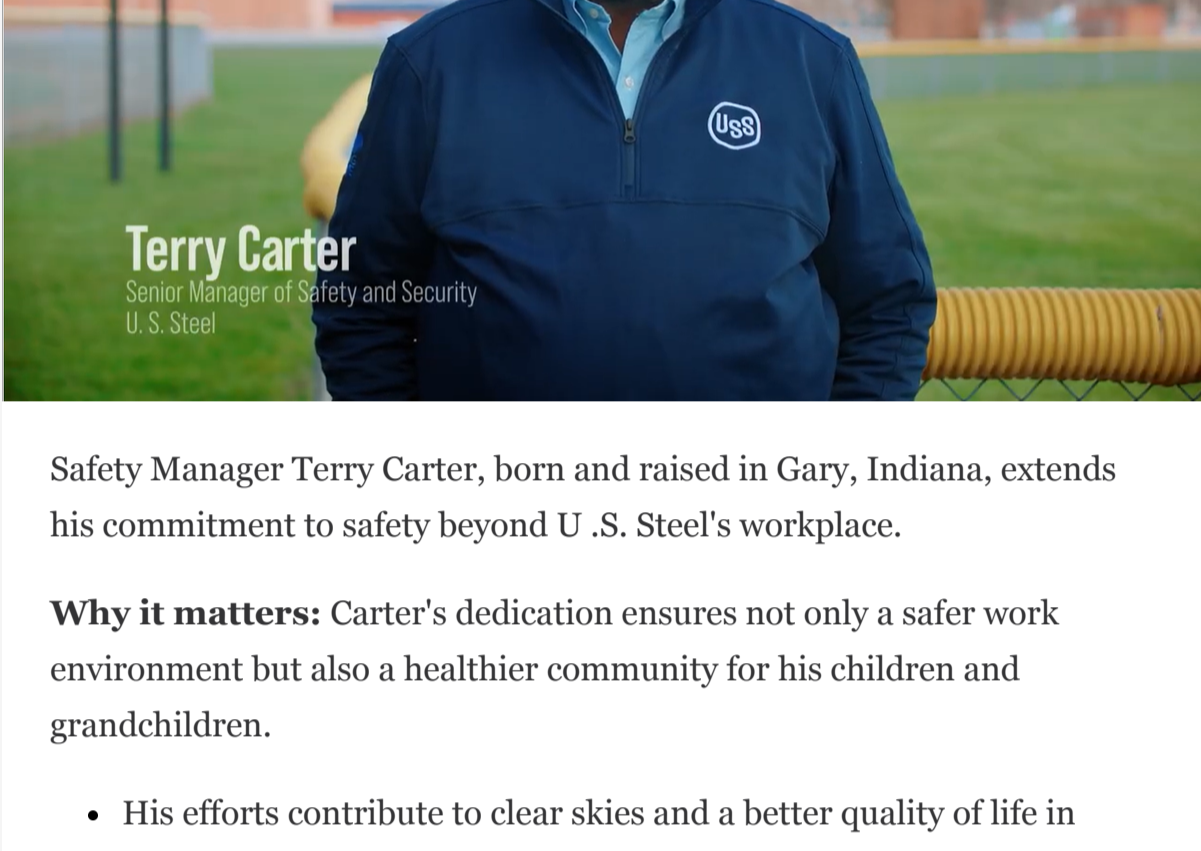

The secret to success: The team's advice emphasizes vigilance and the use of proper tools, urging colleagues to prioritize safety by stopping work if necessary.

- Such leadership and commitment to safety are integral to maintaining the company's high safety standards.

The bottom line: U. S. Steel's emphasis on safety not only protects employees but also strengthens its reputation as a safety leader in the steel industry.

ENVIRONMENTAL EXCELLENCE

Safety Manager Terry Carter, born and raised in Gary, Indiana, extends his commitment to safety beyond U.S. Steel's workplace.

Why it matters: Carter's dedication ensures not only a safer work environment but also a healthier community for his children and grandchildren.

- His efforts contribute to clear skies and a better quality of life in Gary, Indiana.

Community impact: Terry believes in fostering a safe environment that contrasts with the past, aiming for progress and well-being for all residents.

- "We want the community to have a clear sky and not have to worry about what we used to have back in the day," Terry emphasizes.

PROUD PARTNER

"Opportunity" was the focus at this year's AISTech Town Hall Forum, where Dan Killeen, U.S. Steel's VP of Gary Works, joined industry leaders to discuss the steel industry's future.

Why it matters: Dan Killeen emphasized the American steel industry's potential for growth, driven by advances in processes and proposed partnerships, such as with Nippon Steel.

- His insights underscore the importance of fair competition, attracting new talent, and the steadfast dedication of U.S. Steel employees to safety and environmental stewardship.

The path forward: With innovation and collaboration, the steel industry is set to thrive, supported by a workforce committed to excellence and sustainability.

- Dan's vision reflects a promising outlook for U.S. Steel and the broader industry.
